

Captain Underpants and the Christchurch Destruction

By Sean Borrett

One time there were some mean aliens who wanted to take over the galaxy. They were making up a plan to take over the planet called Earth. Their plan was; sneak into Christchurch, get a human costume, wait until lunch, get their blasters out, take off the costumes and begin the human's destruction.

They got in their mini spaceships and headed towards Christchurch. Once they reached the Earth's atmosphere they cloaked their ship. When they landed, they began their despicable plan. The boss and three henchmen went into a shop and bought human costumes to wear. They put on their costumes and headed to the Priory. "Hey, do you want a hot dog?" said a chef. The boss took a bite and immediately shot it out of his mouth. He got out his blaster and paralysed the chef. Luckily nobody noticed.

He and his three henchmen wait until it was lunch. Meanwhile, Captain Underpants landed at the airport. He was on a holiday to Christchurch and he was excited! He came to Christchurch but it was getting destroyed by the aliens. Nobody realised because they were having lunch!

Captain Underpants flew in and stole the alien's blasters but got paralysed by one of the aliens. A person (who walked by) was holding an anti paralysing food. He tripped up on a rock and the food landed in Captain Underpants mouth! He became free and went to the guns which he clicked backwards. The aliens shot their guns, but got paralysed instead. They were stuck like that forever un able to move, even when a pigeon flew by and pooped on them!!

The End