

Suddenly the boy heard a noise and he realised that all the birds were speaking to him. They said that they wanted to stay with the boy and that they wanted the boy to take care of the birds and to feed them. The boy had a think and then he thought some more and then some more. And finally the boy made up his mind. The boy went up to the birds took a deep breath and said that he would keep them. All the birds went bananas and the boy kept the birds and he fed them and took care of them very well, so if you find a magic hat and if you're brave enough to put it on be prepared to be amazed.

The end
