I can write my own story. Remember all the features to make this successful!

One day, I was walking along the beach. It was a dark and gloomy day. I was sad because my easter present conylisous had not arrived yet. I was wearing my purple ^{coat} as it was cold and windy. Suddenly, I saw a bottle of bubble solution lying in the sand. I picked it up and blew a bubble. The colours started to change around me. The day changed from a dark afternoon to a bright yellow and orange, warm day. I could feel all the magic around me. I just had to blow more and more bubbles. Then a biggest bubble came and picked me up and I began to float away. I went up and up higher and higher. At first, I was unsure about the magic bubbles but then I began to smile and looked out in wonder to see lots of beautiful bubbles floating around me.

I blew more and more bubbles and I used them as bouncy stepping stones. I bounced from one big bubble to the next. I then started to go down and down until I reached the bottom of the sea. From inside a big bubble I could see jellyfish, an octopus and even a mermaid. Then I floated back up into the sky and ended up in Unicorn Land. To my surprise, I caught sight of a pink unicorn and a magical town. Then my bubble started to wobble. I jumped down from bubble to bubble back to the beach where I first started. // I could see a sad girl, walking along the beach. One of the bubbles magnified the sad girl in her red coat. I had an idea to cheer her up. I left the bubble solution bottle in the sand, so that the sad girl would find it. I then hid behind the rocks, so that I could see what happened next. Peeping over the rocks, I could see the colours change as the sad girl bounced away on her own magical bubble. I felt good about spreading the happiness of the magic bubbles.
