

The Camocat

By Frank

The Camocat lives in Australia and is a very mixed animal crossed between a Meer cat, a Chameleon and a Hedgehog.

Appearance

It has a Chameleons top bit and spikes on top of that, it also has camo fur that can change colour like Chameleon's scales. It also has a Meer cat body, a frogs tongue and a Chameleon's tail. Lastly a dog nose.

Diet

They eat bugs insects and if not that it'll scavenge and eat whatever meat it can find.

Way of Communication

They howl and sometimes nod and shake their heads.

What the body parts are for

The Camocat has camo fur for blending in, a chameleon tail for grabbing on to things for a quick escape, chameleon eyes to spot things in a three six tee angle, spikes like a hedgehog for protecting themselves, a frog tongue for eating bugs and a dog nose for a great scent of smell.
