

16 June 2020

Dear parents and carers,

Year 6 and the return of other year groups

I am writing to the parents of Year 6 children to update you about our plans from Monday 22 June 2020.

Changes for next week

Following recent government guidance, we now plan to expand our offer: from Monday 22 June we want to offer provision to both Year 5 and Year 6 pupils on a part time basis, whilst continuing our offer to key worker and vulnerable pupils. All Year 5 and Year 6 pupils will have two full days in school each week. Where possible, all pupils will be taught by their class teacher. The model will be based on our weekly online learning materials, with all children receiving two days of face to face teaching in school.

I apologise in advance for these changes and the impact it may have on the plans you had made. The purpose of the changes is to continue a safe and happy return to school for all Year 6 pupils whilst providing the same face to face teaching for another year group.

Monday 22 June for Y6 pupils

- Half the year group will be in on Monday and Tuesday.
- Half the year group will be in on Thursday and Friday.

All children will have two full days in school.

The timetable below shows when children will be in school.

On Wednesday there are no Y6 classes. The PAP provision will continue for the children of keyworker and vulnerable pupils.

This will allow

- staff that are running both home and in school learning, time to prepare lessons, contact parents
- thorough cleaning of classrooms before the next teaching bubble

Please remember, parents are responsible for socially distancing on the journey to and from school and on pick up and drop off times. We would ask that pupils do not bring mobile phones into school.

What if my child is exhibiting symptoms?

If your child is showing one of the symptoms below, your family must self-isolate as per the government advice for 14 days.

- Persistent cough
- Temperature above 37.7 degrees
- Having a loss or change to their sense of smell or taste

All staff and students will have access to a test if they display symptoms of coronavirus, and are encouraged to get tested in this event. Where a child tests negative, they can return to school and the fellow household members can end their self-isolation.

How to get a coronavirus test (please click link)

- You must inform the school if you or your child are going to have a test.
- You must also inform and show the school the results BEFORE returning your child to school.

What if a child or staff member develops symptoms?

If a pupil shows symptoms during the school day, parents will be contacted for immediate pick up and the pupil will be sent to an isolation room where they will be supervised.

Staff who show symptoms will be expected to leave school immediately and apply for key worker testing immediately. If positive, they must self-isolate for 2 weeks.

What happens if there is a confirmed case of coronavirus in school?

Where a child, young person or staff member tests positive, the rest of their class or group within their childcare or education setting should be sent home and advised to self-isolate for 14 days. The other household members of that wider class or group do not need to self-isolate unless the child, young person or staff member they live with in that group subsequently develops symptoms.

As part of the national test and trace programme, if other cases are detected in school, Public Health England's local teams will conduct a rapid investigation and will advise us on the most appropriate action to take.

Yours sincerely

Mr Simon Adorian
